Quality. Every Time.

Our independence is your assurance of satisfaction.

In an industry that sees continued consolidation and corporate takeovers, Barton Solvents, Inc., remains fiercely independent, just as we have since our modest beginnings as a one-truck operation founded by Bud Barton in 1938.

As a family-owned company, our stock price or corporate dividends are of secondary concern. This enables us to keep our focus where it belongs. On you.

Our independence means we can better serve our customers —large and small. We always have. We always will.

You'll discover we don't make a big thing about titles here. When we come to work in the morning, each of us has one major commitment: to provide you with the best customer service you'll ever experience . . . anywhere.

We inventory and deliver chemicals from a large roster of suppliers. You can always select the products and formulations that meet your specifications precisely — without having to compromise.

Order what you want. We'll happily supply it.

From a five-gallon pail or 55-gallon drum to a full transport load, Barton Solvents delivers the quantity of product you need. Every customer is important to us.

By utilizing our own delivery vehicles, we can tailor quantities to suit your application, and we get it there when you need it.

We serve customers in 13 states from seven locations in the Upper Midwest. We warehouse most chemical products you use in your business. And with a delivery fleet of more than 200, we can move the product to wherever you need it — fast.

When you work with Barton Solvents and our regularly scheduled routes, you will know exactly when to place your order for Just-In-Time delivery. We can also help you maintain your inventory by using our keep-fill service.

Of course, we understand you may sometimes experience unusual depletion of your inventory. You can call us anytime for delivery of product to satisfy your unexpected requirements on short notice.

If you need it, we have it.

We blend and/or repackage alcohol and food-grade products and transport them in appropriate containers to assure you of product purity.

When you see the delivery truck with our BARSOL logo on the side, you know you are getting the product you requested. Our terminal piping systems are rigorously maintained for product integrity, and each delivery truck is equipped with multiple pumping systems. Our drivers know the products — they understand your use of them, and all Barton Solvents drivers are trained in safe chemical handling.

Each stocking location has trained technicians who can measure every order for viscosity, specific gravity, and refractive index to assure conformance to products and customer specifications.

Barton Solvents' "white room" packaging facilities for food grade products are FDA registered to assure that USP and NF standards are continuously maintained. As a member of the National Association of Chemical Distributors, our storage, formulation and delivery systems are certified against Responsible Distribution protocols. We use a third-party auditor to verify that we meet all compliance standards (environmental, safety, security and health.)

In addition, Barton Solvents, Inc., is ISO 9001 Registered, another assurance of our stringent quality standards. (ISO certification is not a one-time event; we are continually assessed by a third-party auditor to assure that ISO quality standards are continuously maintained.)
